PUBLIC TRANSIT:

Morgan Station Green/Pink CTA Station

Chicago's Morgan Station is located at the crossroads of N Morgan Street and W Lake Street, putting it right in the heart of Fulton Market and the West Loop. From there, riders can get to anywhere on the Pink or Green "L" lines, which includes stops that span from Harlem in Forest Park all the way to 63rd Street on the city's South Side and from 54th/Cermak in Cicero to downtown.

Ashland Green/Pink CTA Station

Just a few blocks away from Morgan Station is Ashland Station, also a dual connecting entry point to the Pink and Green subway lines. It's farther west where W Lake Street and Ashland Avenue intersect.

CTA Bus Lines in Fulton Market

The neighborhood is serviced by two CTA bus lines -- the 8, which runs north and south with a stop at Halsted and Randolph; and the 20, which runs east and west with a stop at Washington and Halsted.
